THOUGHTS FROM THE VICARAGE

If October was a month for giving thanks – with Harvest festivals and the beginning of autumn, then November may be characterised as a month for remembering. It begins with bonfire Night, and those words so many of us associate with it: ‘Remember, remember the 5th of November, gunpowder, treason and plot. For there is a reason why gunpowder and treason should ne’er be forgot’. The 5th November is also the day we celebrate our Patronal Festival of All Saints, where we remember the saints of old – all those who have gone before us in the faith, and have now entered the Lord’s rest. The Sunday afterwards, 12th November, we come to Remembrance Sunday itself; and, as in previous years, we’ll be joined by our local uniformed groups in the morning, followed by a Service for the Bereaved in the afternoon. It’s a season for remembering.

Yet, as we consider events in the world around us, and particularly the crisis emerging in the Middle East between Israel and Hamas, it becomes clear that simply remembering what happened in the past isn’t good enough. If we dwell on the injustices of the past, and allow bitterness and resentment to build, we find ourselves trapped by what has gone before. That’s just as true in our personal lives as it is on the world stage.

The message of the Gospel is one of truth-speaking, of honesty, of careful listening, of mercy, of forgiveness, of reconciliation, of healing, and of hope. Jesus modelled this in all his dealings with people: speaking the uncomfortable truth to self-satisfied Pharisees; challenging the rich young ruler about his priorities in life; listening carefully to Jairus as his daughter lay dying; offering forgiveness to the woman caught in adultery; bringing together tax collectors, sinners, and prostitutes into his inner circle; healing the woman with the haemorrhage; speaking hope to the thief dying by his side on the cross. In his life, and through his death, Jesus spoke of grace, mercy, and forgiveness.

During this month of November, this season of remembering, let’s hold on to all that is good, all that is lovely, all that is true. Let’s also recognise when we need to come to terms with the past, so that we can move into a better future – the future the Lord offers to all who put their faith and trust in him.

MISSION FOCUS: MOSAIC MIDDLE EAST (MME)

I have recently received from MME an informative, yet stark, video of a conversation between Rev'd Canon Faiz Jirjees, the Anglican Vicar of St. George's Church in Baghdad and a partner with MME in its work in the Middle East, and the former Archbishop of Canterbury, Rowan Williams, who is himself Patron of MME and a passionate advocate of its aims and objectives. Canon Faiz starts the video by answering the crucial question: "What is the future of Christians in Iraq?".

He responds by saying that they need us here in the UK to help them and to stand with them in solidarity, so that they are not left to flounder in the reality of the situation that they live in. Christians in Iraq need spiritual, moral and financial support, so that their confidence and sense of stability inside Iraq may be restored. (Canon Faiz does not mention persecution as such, but he concentrates more on the aspect of not letting the existing Christian community be demoralised, I think.)

Rowan Williams then asked Canon Faiz to tell how the work of his church in Baghdad might be expanded. As readers may remember from past articles here on the work of MME, St. George's not only attends to the spiritual needs of the remaining Christians in that beleaguered city, but also runs a medical clinic for people of all faiths and none, with the help of volunteers and financial assistance from churches such as All Saints. This is vital medical work which benefits the whole community of Baghdad. Canon Faiz reminds us that our religious beliefs (i.e. our faith) must always be accompanied by humanitarian work, and that these two strands of Christianity are inseparable. As Christians, we are taught and come to believe that if a person comes to you hungry, it is not enough to say that God will provide. We are expected to show our love as Good Samaritans by feeding this person with enough food to satisfy him.

be a transient thing, moving rapidly on to the next disaster relief need, and abandoning an earlier one which still needed support. So we in the UK need to work harder to remind our politicians that support is still needed for minority communities in places like Iraq, and to continue to give our own financial and spiritual support, as we are doing at All Saints, to organisations such as MME.

In previous articles we have highlighted a particular aspect of the work of MME. This time let us put the spotlight on the Nineveh SEED programme. This happens in Northern Iraq (readers will recall that the prophet Jonah was called by God to minister to the people of Nineveh!). MME carefully identifies, plans and executes sustainable projects that help people to regain their livelihoods. Through Nineveh SEED, MME creates jobs, provides com-

I then saw Rowan Williams say that he thought that over recent decades the level of knowledge about Christianity in Iraq had declined, particularly among what he termed "the British Official classes". I think that he meant that few people nowadays in authority realised that what is now Iraq was one of the first regions, then known as Mesopotamia, to receive the Gospel from the earliest apostles of Christ. He added that people generally did not seem to be aware that the Arab world is not exclusively Muslim, and, for that matter, that not all Muslims are Arabs. He also mentioned that the attention of Governments seemed to

THE BIG BUILD

Having received a drawing with the combination of all the best bits from the three original concept drawings, there still a couple of queries to be resolved. One is the location of the iconic bell tower and the other is the size of access into the storage area from the church.

An additional requirement has been identified – a defined footpath around the new extension allowing safe access from the church to the hall for pushchairs etc .

The next stage will be some detailed elevation drawings which will be based on the results of the various surveys now being undertaken. We hope to have them available before Christmas.

We have started to look at funding and you will read about the Gift Day in November on page 25.

PARISH PROFILE: MEGAN MILANO

Megan lives in Curling Vale with her husband Dan and their two little girls Maddie (nearly five) and Lily (one). She was born in Nassau, in the Bahamas, and spent her childhood there with her parents, brother and two sisters. At 16, Megan decided to become a lawyer, and moved to the UK to complete her A Levels at a boarding school in Eastbourne. She had a close relationship with her dad's mother who lived in Seaford, and who had Megan to stay during the holidays.

Megan then went on to study law and sociology at Exeter University, where she met Dan. They moved to Onslow Village in 2016, having spent several years living in the south east. A couple of weeks after they moved into the house, they returned to Exeter to get married in the university chapel, and Exeter is still a special place for them both.

The bell tower of All Saints can be seen from Megan and Dan's loft room. When Megan first brought the girls up to church one Sunday to see what it was like, she remembers Sophie and Hunter asking them to join their table. Beverly also came straight over to introduce herself, and Megan immediately felt welcomed. She values the friendliness and openness of the congregation, and feels the variety of services works really well.

CHILDREN'S AND YOUNG PEOPLE'S CHURCH

We already know that we are blessed with many things at All Saints. One of those is our Children and Young People's Church.

We are very grateful to be bucking the national trend and increasing our numbers of children and young people who attend on a Sunday since Covid. This is a blessing in so many ways. On most Sunday mornings laughter can be heard coming from the church hall as a range of different ages of children and young people join us for our weekly get-together. We are famous for having breakfast after every school holiday to provide fellowship and belonging to those who attend. This encourages many to attend and we know the adults would often love to join us as the smell of bacon wafts from the kitchen! Please note that we always provide alternatives for anybody with dietary requirements. We are privileged to teach our children and young people about the love of God linking our learning through the lectionary to what is going on in church that morning.

If you are interested in becoming a leader and supporting us in what we do, we are always grateful to hear from people.

A short story from the Bible

It can be read in the Bible in Genesis chs. 37:1-36, 39:1-20

Jacob had 12 sons but his favourite was Joseph, his beloved Rachel's son. He even gave him special clothes to wear...

STIR UP SUNDAY

Stir up Sunday this year is on November 26th. The collect for this date is from the Book of Common Prayer 1549, and begins 'Stir up, we beseech thee, O Lord, the wills of thy people'. This prayer settled the date of the last Sunday before Advent to make the Christmas pudding.

By the 1300s, a rudimentary pudding known as frumenty was eaten. It was a soupy mix of beef, mutton, spices, wine and dried prunes. As trade expanded over the course of the next two hundred years, dried fruit and new spices were added.

However, after the Civil War, we had a republican government from 1649 to 1653. It was made up of Puritans and, as the Christmas festivities, including pudding, were too much fun, they were banned.

In 1714, George I from Hanover became king. He really enjoyed puddings and was known as the Pudding King. He introduced a plum pudding.

His grandson, George III became king in 1760, his wife was Queen Charlotte and she was also German, from Mecklenburg-Strelitz. Christmas was then held in the newly purchased Buckingham House known at the time as the Queen's House. She brought a different recipe for pudding.

However, for the pudding we know today we must look to Charles Dickens and his description of Mrs Cratchit bringing the pudding to the table with flames and a sprig of holly. For years the family came to the kitchen to stir the bowl and make a wish. The pudding should contain 13 ingredients to remind us of Jesus and the 12 disciples. It should be stirred from east to west to acknowledge the journey of the magi.

GIFT DAY, SUNDAY 26TH NOVEMBER

Plans are almost in place for the redevelopment of our buildings. We hope to significantly redevelop the foyer adding a kitchen, a new office, new toilets and a hospitality space. We'll also be adding storage spaces in various areas of the building, including the church hall.

Final plans are being drawn up by our architects (Robin Nugent Architects), for approval by the PCC, and sharing with members of All Saints. Do have a word with any member of the Big Build team, if you'd like to find out more.

To progress further, we now need to pay a number of significant professional fees, to our architect and various surveyors. We would like to raise £25,000 to launch the Big Build project, and to secure the future of our buildings.

Please give as generously as you can, as we begin this venture of faith together. You can give on the Gift Day itself (26th November), or in advance of that date if you prefer.

You can give:

- via bank transfer (details from the office)
- At our online giving page for the Big Build: bit.ly/build\_donate
- Cash or cheque to the office

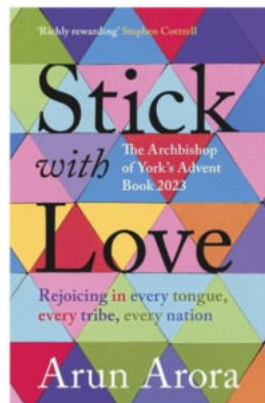

Wishing you every blessing,

BOOK REVIEWS

Stick with Love - Rejoicing in Every Tongue, Every Tribe, Every Nation
The Archbishop of York's Advent Book 2023
By Arun Arora, SPCK, £10.99

Martin Luther King famously declared that 'I have decided to stick with love... Hate is too great a burden to bear'. In these luminous daily readings, Arun Arora helps us consider the biblical picture of the Church as the people of God, drawn from every tribe, every tongue, and every nation.

Themes of racial justice, hospitality and welcome are explored alongside the stories of saints from across the globe. Beginning with reflections from Isaiah and Revelation, the meditations lead us on to consider the missionaries, martyrs and mystics who light our Advent way.

The Manual - getting masculinity right
By Al Stewart, 10Publishing, £11.04

Understanding what it means to be male has never been more confusing. As more male behaviour is called out for being patriarchal or toxic, how does a man navigate these waters? What does healthy masculinity even look like, and what examples are there of good men that can be followed?

This book explores many of the issues that men struggle with: what it means to be a healthy son, workmate, friend, single man, husband and father. It works through much of the current debate on masculinity and finds helpful advice from many experts. But most importantly, it works through what the Bible has to say about men, and how being a follower of Jesus is central to living a life that loves and serves others.

With your people across the globe at this time of international crisis, we cry out, 'Where are you, Lord?'

'My children,

I hear your cries, and know this:

I am in the heart of this darkness.

I hear the cry of the innocent;

I feel the pain of the fearful;

I taste the tears of the bereaved;

I see the terror of the refugee;

I touch the scars of the wounded and dying.

I am working more miracles in secret than you could ever imagine.'
